Film Council On The Move

Does your society or group need some entertainment? Are you looking for an educational feature? How about a topic for discussion? All these can be solved by using films from the National Film Board. The Rosebud Film Council, the local representative group of the National Film Board, has again begun its full schedule. Rev. E. B. Fox, the local group's secretary and librarian, has some 33 films available at all times. These films cover a great variety of subjects from travelogues to comedy. To the members of the Rosebud Film Council, these and many other films are free for the asking. Any group or society may also use the films and the rental is so small that it is practically insignificant. If you would like to make use of any films contact the local film librarian, Rev. E. B. Fox.

Summing up the purpose of this observance, Pastor E. B. Fox states: "Sunday School is certainly an indispensable activity of our Church for the community. Our Sunday School is dedicated to the week-after-week teaching of the Word of God. Using the Bible as its guide, the Sunday School applies the unchanging, God-given principles of morality, love, and faith to actual situations of life."

Wonder what she has against those cows?

Brief Sent To Minister Of Municipal Affairs

The following is the complete text of the brief submitted by the Council of the M. D. of Mt. View No. 49 at the joint meeting between the council and the school trustees, Saturday in Didsbury.

The brief, dated September 18, 1959 has been forwarded to the Hon. A. J. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs. The original application by the M. D. Council for the formation of a County was dated February 10th, 1959.

1. The Council of The Municipal District of Mountain View No. 49 believes that it is Provincial Government policy to encourage and establish the formation of the County system of Municipal Government as soon as applied for.

2. The Municipal Council believes that with the accelerated consolidation of rural schools and the consequent tremendous capital outlay necessary for the new school buildings and the complete inability of the Council to keep pace with the construction and maintenance of school bus routes necessary to service this development, that the interest of the taxpayers as a whole can be best served by one governing body, empowered not only to levy and collect revenues but control its disbursement.

3. The Council feels that the independent authorities for school and municipal administration are unwillingly to accept responsibility for high costs, waste, lack of services, increased debt or rising mill rates. As a result taxpayers are generally misinformed or completely confused. The County system with its single authority should to a large extent ameliorate this condition.

4. The question of borrowing under existing conditions leaves room for improvement which the Council believes would be rectified by the establishment of a County system. Where the two authorities are separated the School Board must borrow money to carry a year until it receives its next requisition, while at the same time under certain conditions the Municipal Council must building up a surplus. Under recent legislation the schools are permitted to borrow funds from the Alberta Finance Corporation without reference to the Municipal Council who in the final analysis must pay off the debt.

5. At the present time the Municipal Council makes its plans, passes its budget, builds and improves roads where they think best, and generally speaking the School Board knows little about and indeed can give very little help or information prior to the opening of schools in the fall. The improvements are often made in the wrong places and as most of the allocation has been spent during the summer, little help can be given school bus routes until the following year. This complete lack of a co-ordinated program, the Council believes would be impossible under the Alberta County System.

6. The Council has made on the spot checks of the operation of the existing Counties and as a result feel that this system is undoubtedly a great improvement over the existing separate authority form of Municipal Government.

7. It should be noted that the Co-terminus Boundary Commission spent two years setting boundaries common to both School and Municipal Districts. While much of the confusion caused by overlapping boundaries was removed, this Municipality is still faced with the removal of a certain lands from its East and South boundaries. This situation, the Municipal Council believes, can best be handled in the interests of all ratepayers by a County Council.

8. Respectfully submitted, Reeve and Council, M. D. of Mt. View No. 49, Didsbury, Alta.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST
Dr. F. J. Greeney, Director, Line Elevators Farm Service, Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Sponsored by the following companies: Federal, Pioneer, Alberta Pacific, Paterson, McClellan, Portland & Hambleton, Paterson, Ocean, Elison Muling and Quaker Oats.

DON'T LOSE DOLLARS! CAREFULLY HARVEST GRAIN

Prairie farmers suffer heavy financial losses each year owing to the use of inefficient, faulty harvesting methods. Last year, for instance, more than 500,000 bushels of Western Canadian grain were graded "rejected on account of stones". The price spread between straight grades of grain and grain rejected "on account of stones" is about 14 cents a bushel. No farmer can afford to lose 14 or even 5 cents a bushel on the grain he harvests this year. This and other types of grade losses can be eliminated or at least greatly reduced if farmers will take the time and the care to adjust their swathers, combines, or threshing machines for "top quality" grain production.

Modern Problems. In spite of their labor-saving efficiency, modern machines and methods have introduced important grain harvesting problems. One of these is the tendency for farmers and combine operators to cut grain crops before they are fully mature. As farmers know only too well, "immature kernels in barley" and "grass green kernels in wheat" are serious and costly deterring factors. Another growing problem is the occurrence in three-bush grain of too many stones and earth pebbles which cannot be separated by ordinary methods of cleaning. Many different kinds of mechanical kernel damage also occur — splitting of wheat, skinning and breaking of barley, and cracking of flaxseed — all of which are caused by faulty, inefficient harvesting and threshing practices.

Prevent Harvest Losses. This year particularly, owing to the fact that many grain crops are thin and short in the straw, farmers will be well paid for any extra care they exercise in their swathing, combining and threshing operations. Yes, care in harvesting will help you to obtain the highest possible financial returns from the grain you harvest in 1959.

NOTICE

The following is for the information of farmers whose land lies within the boundaries of the Hail Suppression Area for 1959:

(a) The hail suppression fee will be returned to the taxpayer if his crop is hailed 100% and not harvested.

(b) This rebate is to be on a quarter section basis.

(c) To be eligible for rebate the taxpayer must mail a claim to Irving P. Krick Associates of Canada, Ltd., P.O. Box 238, Calgary, Alberta, by October 6th, 1959.

(d) There must be a minimum of ten (10) acres of crop on each quarter section to be subject to rebate.

(e) No rebate will be made until October 30th, 1959 and all rebates to be paid by December 31st, 1959, except in cases of dispute.

(f) If there is dispute, the claims will be settled by arbitration and payment, if any, made within sixty (60) days of the decision.

(g) To be subject to rebate the crop must be a cereal crop and grown for grain.

A Sad Situation ... No Loss!

The visit of "our friend" Mr. Khrushchev, to the United States (we wish his name was shorter and his views a little broader) has been a big blooper so far. In our opinion he's had the course, he shoulda' stayed at home insofar as public relations are concerned; he doesn't even like the back-ends of our ballet dancers it's the smiling faces he goes for ... we wonder why he doesn't spread his heavily-jowled face into a smile once in awhile; is this not deemed correct in his homeland? We are not his servants as yet, and never intend to be. We are not the kind of people who will bow before one who we believe thinks he should rule the world, as well as the moon. We will continue in our own way of life and trust that the Russian head (and we do mean head), will do the same. One suggestion that was made to us was that he should be put on a slow boat to China — the slower the better — if it happened to sink on the way we could only say "it couldn't have happened to a better guy."

County System Coming Up ???

At a recent meeting of the council of the M.D. of Mountain View and the Olds School Division the "county system" came under the hammer. We suggest you study the report that appears elsewhere in this paper. According to reports the "county system" has been successful in all areas where it has been instituted in this province. Now we'll wait and watch for the next move. Could be interesting!

Joint Meeting Airs Views On Proposed Area County

By N. Leatherdale

"Before a County will be established in the Olds Co-terminus area, we want a pretty definite commitment from the M.D. and the School Division that there is some general agreement," said Hon. A. O. Aalborg, Alberta Minister of Education at the close of a lengthy meeting called to discuss the issue. He told the members of the M.D. of Mountain View Council and the Board of Trustees at the joint meeting in Didsbury Saturday that "This (the County set-up) is worthy of your earnest consideration because it might provide something better at the level of local government."

Early in the meeting Mr. Aalborg had outlined the formation of the early counties, the revisions which had been injected into the County Act and that there was not one instance of failure but rather the County form of government where established now seems well accepted.

While the County Act in language hires only an application from one of the bodies, council or school trustees, as a matter of policy no county will be established unless there is substantial concurrence between the two bodies.

Angus Morrison, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, explained the ramifications of the County Act, its application, and the position of towns such as Olds, Didsbury, Carstairs, Cremona and Sundre in the operation of the County system. Because Olds and Didsbury are separate sub-divisions of the present school set-up, each would have one representative on the school committee of the County Council. The town of Sundre, and the villages of Carstairs and Cremona, would have one representative between the towns, alternating each year between the towns. On matters of school, these town representatives would have the same rights and voting powers as members of the County Council of the school committee at the time budgets are prepared and although the County Council may raise or lower or return this budget, once accepted, the school committee of the County operates and administers education under the terms of the School Act. In all Municipal matters, the County Council acts under the terms of the Municipal Act.

In the present situation where there are two Municipal Hospital Districts in the proposed County there would be two hospital committees with the towns and villages enjoying the same representation as at present and having the same rights at meetings of the County Council as those enjoyed by town elected school trustees.

Following these explanations the meeting entered a period of questions and answers with Tom Morris of Didsbury as Chairman.

E. G. Turner of Carstairs asked about the representation for that town on the County Council and was told by Mr. Morrison that every third year Carstairs would be represented. Mr. Aalborg said that this matter was one for serious consideration and a valid argument against a County but the administration problem prevents all towns being represented on the County Council while at the same time the rotation system assures Carstairs a representative once every three years. The point, said Mr. Aalborg, is one that has been raised before and successfully overcome.

R. Rankin, school trustee of Sundre asked whether a prior vote of ratepayers should be taken and was told that there was no objection to an informal vote other than the ratepayers know the workings of the present municipal government and not too much about a County.

Tom Morris, Chairman of the Olds School Division, asked why the town representatives were elected each year. Mr. Morrison suggested the circumstances here were different than those encountered in any of the 12 counties already established.

R. Rankin of Sundre asked whether they (the M.D. Council) have made application for the formation of a County. He was told the application was received February 10, 1959. The question as to why there was no prior discussion was unanswered.

Alex Hogg, a Municipal Councillor said that everybody (meaning the other municipal districts) was considering the County set-up and for this reason Mt. View had made the application. There are now 12 counties and 30 municipal districts in the province.

V. J. Van Hatten directed four questions to Hon. A. O. Aalborg.

Q. Will County system give better education?

A. No evidence school system is worse, but there seems to be a fuller appreciation by Municipal authorities as to the problem facing educational bodies.

Q. Will we have better trustees?

A. The County form of government will demand a better standard of performance and there has been no expression from teachers or school trustees in any of the counties asking to go back to the dual form of municipal government.

Q. Will elections be satisfactory to ratepayers?

A. There are advantages in either a ward system or in elections at large but this is a local problem.

Q. Why is the County set-up not part of the city government?

A. There is a very important fundamental difference, that of transportation especially of school children. The County Council and Committee set-up offers a much more amicable appreciation of this problem.

At this time too the Minister categorically denied any charges that the government was trying to force the County System on anyone. Later in the meeting after hearing several charges that the government was trying to force the system on municipal bodies he said this was a erroneous impression and that no single individual could speak for the government.

"Up to this point," he said, "the government has argued the County System on its own merits." The Municipal Finance Corporation was never set up to promote the County system, said Mr. Aalborg.

Mr. Morrison, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, also took part in the discussion at this point saying that the County System was proposed basically on the principle that the body charged with raising the money should also spend the money, and he referred to a government publication containing many unsolicited statements on the County System.

Ellis Turner, Carstairs, raised the issue that taxing authorities in the towns of the Olds School Division would really have no authority as the County Council could veto the school committee budget and recommendations. He was told that the school committee operates and has all the powers delegated by the school act which clearly lays out the duties of a school trustee.

Bob Rankin, Sundre, raised the issue of hospital boards which was answered earlier in this report. He was told that centralization of authority might produce a better form of local government.

Alex Weir, Olds, disputed this point with figures on the success of the Olds School District before entry into the Olds School Division. There is a lot to be said, Mr. Weir added, for the good work of both the local school trustee and Municipal Councillor. Mr. A. L.

THE TRUTH ON LABELS

Would you buy a house just because it looked pretty? Of course not. You want to know what kind of roofing it has, how much and what kind of insulation, how the floors are laid and what sort of piping and wiring run through the walls.

Clothes Are Budgeted
Cloths and fabrics cost less than houses, but they are still an important part of the family budget.
As with a house, we want to know what the outside layer is made of so we can judge how it will behave as a covering. We like to have the "builder" attest to the quality of the hidden parts — seams, lining and lining. We want to be told for what use the garment was designed, and how to care for it.
But often when we shop for fabrics
we are given almost none of this information. Turning the material over in our hands, we try to guess its properties through the age-old tests of feel and appearance.

In centuries before this one, that may have been possible. There were only the old fibres — flax, cotton, silk, and wool — each one usually used alone in well-known fabric types. The buyer had a fair idea of how it would behave in any given use. But to-day no housewife is expert enough to tell what fibre or blend of fibres — make up a fabric, and how it will perform in wear and cleaning.

Somehow, the buyer must be told these things, by the only people who know. These are the fabric manufacturers and finisher, and the garment maker. And the only practical way of passing on this sort of vital information is a tag or label.

A GOOD LABEL HELPS
A good label can solve most of the consumer's problems. On it, a

Hogg agreed with this statement.
Tom Morris, Didsbury, told the Municipal Council that the members of his board had come to the meeting to find out why the application had been made and whether the Council were satisfied with the actions of the Board of Trustees.

It was at this time that W. Bagnall, reeve of the M.D. of Mt. View rose to read into the records of the meeting, a brief proposed by the Council for transmission to the Minister of Municipal Affairs.
The reading of this brief was followed by a cross-fire of opinions between Mr. Van Hatten and Mr. Bagnall and it was then that Mr. Aalborg made the statement in regard government policy.

Mr. Aalborg asked the members of the Council and Divisional Board to carefully weight the County form of government on its own merits. He again outlined procedures and government policy
and assured them that the matter was worthy of earnest consideration.

Reeve Bagnall expressed his thanks to the Minister for his impartial review of the County setup and took full responsibility for himself and his Council for forwarding the application without prior consultation with the school trustees. "But" he said, "we took the act at face value" which allows either of our groups to make the application. He also extended his thanks to the school trustees and Mr. Morrison for attending the meeting.

Tom Morris said that if the meeting had been held 10 months ago it might have been easier for the Council and school trustees to find points of agreement. He also extended his thanks to Mr. Aalborg, Mr. Morrison and the M.D.
Council.

There was general agreement
at the meeting that the County System needed full study and that more information needed to be passed on to ratepayers.

The meeting concluded on a harmonious note as the school board and Council agreed to appoint committees which will meet and work together in an effort to reach some general agreement on the matter of the County System.

Attending the lengthy meeting were Hon. A. O. Aalborg, Minister of Education; Angus Morrison,

Squirrel Cage . . .

MAKES SENSE ? ? ?

A vicar in a small parish in Scotland was collecting subscriptions for the erection of a fence around the local cemetery. Everyone gave something with the exception of McTavish. Later, the vicar asked why he refused.

"We'll," replied Mac, "I don't see any use in a fence around a cemtery. Those that are in there can't get out. And them what's out sure don't want to get in."

SO TRUE . . . SO TRUE ! ! !
The time saved by crashing traffic lights or trying to beat a train is often lost waiting for an ambulance.

ANOTHER GEM
The things most people want to know about are usually none of their business.

George Shaw
manufacturer's brand name gives some assurance of quality, of workmanship in linings and hidden parts, and of general good cut and fit. But a name alone is not enough.
We need to know what the fabric is made of. If we're looking for a fabric containing "Terylene" so we can have durable pleats, for example, we should know the percentage of that fibre incorporated in the fabric.

Next, we want to know how to use the fabric and how to care for
it. We want to know if the colors will last — if it's fast to light when we're buying drapes; to chlorine or salt water if it's a swimsuit; or to perspiration or rubbing for hard wear. We need to know whether it should be washed by hand or by machine, or dry-cleaned.

We like to know if there's a special weather-proof finish, and whether that finish should be renewed. We should be told how hot an iron the material will stand,
and whether we have to handle it carefully to avoid shrinkage. A whole swarm of questions buzz in the head of a mother shopping for her family's clothing needs.

When you buy one of these "significant" styles in a "line-like" suit, you may ruin it if you treat it like linen. But if you are told on a label what the basic fibre is, that the appearance is imparted by a durable finish and how to care for it, you may have better use from
it than from real linen.

You may see a gorgeous print which would keep it's beauty for years, if only dry-cleaned and protected from direct sunlight. But in the absence of any label telling you this, you choose it for drapes, hang them in a south window and eventually have them laundered! The waste of money and material is in stark contrast to the efficiency
reached in the actual production of this lovely fabric. All it needed to give perfect satisfaction was a label.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moyer of St. Catherine, Ont., have taken up residence on campus this past week. They will be living in the apartment which the Taylors vacated. At present they are arranging their schedule for the year. People in the community desiring music subjects could enquire regarding them, and perhaps some could find time to take the class work that will be offered in this department.

Arthur Eby, maintenance superintendent, is very busy these days working on the school pantry. The Alumni Association is remodelling the entire pantry for the college and this will be a wonderful asset to the kitchen department. Mrs. Arthur Eby will be cooking again this year and she is thrilled with the prospects of having adequate facilities for food. We appreciate the work that Alumni members do each year. They made possible a good root cellar, a kitchen with lovely tables for the dining room, a remodelled chapel, and now a lovely cool pantry with adequate shelves.

The present student body has been successful in liquidating the indebtedness on the Student Centre this year. A platform has been put in and now Mr. Waldin will have adequate room for the food plays that he presents each year. Chairs are needed for the centre and we are sure these will come in the future. An extra heating unit is also being installed in the Centre so the building will be properly heated for social functions of various kinds during the winter. The Student Lounge is being redecorated. It has been painted and some redecoration has also been done in the music studio.

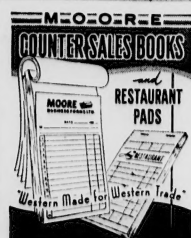

The college will appreciate any help that can be had in filling our root cellar with vegetables for winter use. Some have already come in, and a friend is supplying us with potatoes. Other vegetables will be needed. College will open October 6th this year.

CHEMICAL WEED CONTROL
IN THE FALL.—Weed killing chemicals are used on about one-third of the cropped acreage in Western Canada. While it is true that chemicals cannot completely replace tillage in every weed control program, it is a fact, nevertheless, that chemicals could and should be more widely used.

An important approach to reducing summerfallow costs is to use chemicals in the fall after harvest to control thistle patches and overwintering stalks. About Mid-September or later, spray with 2-4-D, using one gallon of 64 ounce Ester to four acres or in other words apply at the rate of one lb. of acid per acre. Cultivate or one-way about 14 days after the spray treatment.

Farmers who have used this method can vouch for almost complete control of the thistles and winter annuals as well as a substantial reduction in tillage operations in the fallow year to follow. Chemicals at the above rate can be effectively used in the fall on stubble fields which will be cropped next spring. Often under wet conditions it is possible to spray for weed control in the fall when the fields are too wet for proper tillage. Excessive tillage, a contributing factor to serious soil erosion in most cases results from attempts to kill perennial weeds exclusively by cultivation. Try replacing two or three cultivations by one chemical treatment. This could save you money, give better weed control and also reduce the hazard of soil erosion.

NOTES FROM

The District
Agriculturist
HOWARD
FULCHER

Feeder cattle do need supplements to the farm grown feed. They require both mineral and protein supplements if the best use of feed is to be made. In addition to the efficient use of feed nutritional deficiencies lower the steer's resistance and they may succumb to sickness which otherwise they would resist.

How much mineral and how much protein should be fed? This depends greatly on the feed which is being fed especially in the case of protein supplements.

Of our home grown grain, barley and oats are usually fed in some cases wheat. They are ground or rolled depending on the feeder and may be mixed with the roughage or fed separately. The protein content of oats is about 12.5%, barley 10%, and wheat 11.5%. A steer should get approximately 14% protein in his ration. If good quality hay which has a fair percentage of legume is available the feeder will not require much protein supplement in the early stages of feeding, however as the feeding period progresses and less hay is consumed, protein supplement should be added. Where this above program is followed a protein supplement of approximately 30% protein should be fed for the last 50 days of a 150 day feeding period at about 1 pound per steer per day. If straw is being used as the roughage feed, protein supplement at the above rate through the entire feeding period.

Minerals should always be available, they can be mixed with the grain if desired or may be fed free choice. Feeders often feed salt in one mineral box and a mixture of bonemeal and limestone in another. A very satisfactory mixture fed free choice, is one part salt, one part bonemeal and one part limestone.

LIGHT YOUR WAY ...

... WITH BIBLE STUDY

It was a soiled piece of paper dropped by a child in leaving Sunday school. On it was written in childish scrawl:

"I will love God very much -
 'He will take good care of me -
 'I will try to get somebody to come."

This unknown child reflects in part the power of God's Word on the heart of an individual. These statements are an interesting example of the profound truth expressed in the saying: "Where God's Word is in use, God Himself sets through His Word to produce love and trust in Him, and prompt the individual to live a Christian life and to serve God."

Jesus points to this power for the Christian life that comes from His Word: "If you continue in My Word, you are truly My disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free."
 "Continue in My Word." That is God's wish. The church stands ready to help the home in this work. Even as these two agencies combine to serve, so there should also be a togetherness in the home. This should be its goal:

"Together we use God's Word
 "Together we grow in Christ
 "Together we love all men
 "Together we serve our God
 "Together we hope for heaven
 "Through Christ, our Lord."
 Go to Church. Together. As a family. Continue in His Word. Experience God's power in your life.
